Once there was a goat that lived in a stone home. He ate loads of toast, and roast most of a loaf as soon as he woke.

One day he looked out of the window to see Toad row his boat slowly up the river. He went to meet Toad.

'The smoke from your toast is starting to choke those of us down the road', Toad croaked.

'I hope this a joke! My nose can smell no smoke!', Goat groaned.

'It is your stove,' the toad moaned. He showed him a yellow toaster. A note he wrote said, 'We chose this for you'.
